

When You're Doin' What You Love

Don Gnecco

There are things in life that you must do--responsibilities.
There are expectations, there are folks that you must please.
When you take the time to listen to
The voice that's deep inside
You'll be doin' what you need,
Your heart will be your guide.

Of the many things to do in life--possibilities;
Lots of opportunity to do the things you please.
If you'll listen to that voice
It'll help you to decide,
You'll be doin' what you want,
And your heart will be your guide.

When you're doing what you love
Everything feels right
With your soul and mind in harmony.
You'll find your heart is light
And your days will all seem bright.
When you're doin' what you want,
When you're doin' what you love.

When you know the things that feel just right
You'll find your heart is lighter.
All the days that once were dark are brighter.
When you listen to your heart
Your troubles will be few,
When you're doing what you love,
And you're lovin' what you do!

When you're doing what you love
Everything feels right
With your soul and mind in harmony.
You'll find your heart is light
And your days will all seem bright.
When you're doin' what you want,
When you're doin' what you love.
Doin' what you love.
